Originally created by Topps in 1967, Wacky Packages were amusing send ups of the popular household products of the time. This hit series of parody stickers has stood the test of time and resulted in more than 30 sets over the following decades. An amazing roster of collaborative artists and humorists brought stunning art and biting satire to Wacky Packages, earning the brand a coveted place in pop-culture history. This product is not authorized or endorsed by any of the companies who are the subject of parody. The products being spoofed are all good ones. No kidding.
